

Myth or Fact:

You must be retired. (Myth)

Many COM members are currently working full time jobs. They volunteer on projects, for the weekends or use vacation time to do mission projects. Come for a day or two, or as much as you can. COM is a very flexible organization.

You need to have a RV. (Myth)

Many mission projects are at childrens camps and church's. The camps have cabins, dorm rooms etc. for those members who do not have RV's. Churches house some of our members too.

Skills and Experience Required. (Myth)

None required, just a willing heart and spirit! There is always a job for everyone. Sometimes, you can assist someone who has a skill, and you learn new things on the job.

Membership Fees to join. (Myth)

There are no financial obligations to join Campers on Mission at anytime. Only requirement is you have accepted Jesus as Savior, and be a member, in good standing with a bible teaching, evangelical church.

Adults 18 or older may attend. (Myth)

Members who are blessed to have children at home may bring them along. What an awesome way for the children to learn about missions and serving others. The children work with their parents to learn skills that prepare them to be future Campers on Mission members.

Share Christ "As We Go", mission projects from Alaska to Florida, new friends, excitement in serving The Lord. (Fact)

As a member of Campers on Mission, you receive training at state rally's (there is a Spring Rally and a Fall State Rally every year) You will receive emails of state projects and other vital information from the president of your state.

National Campers on Mission Rally in June of each year provide more training for members. Seminars may include: Plumbing, Electrical, Sheet Rocking, Full Time RVing, Tax Information, RV Maintenance, and many more.

We invite you to:

Read the article below in Mature Living;

View Kentucky Campers on Mission video working on one of their favorite projects;

View Alabama Campers on Mission, sharing how they go, what they do, to give you an idea of the work you may get involved in by joining Campers on Mission.

Feel free to call, or email us if you have any questions about Campers on Mission. Thank you again for visiting our website!

Jerry and Renee McGovern

National Coordinators/Campers on Mission